MTW Supplement for PHA Fiscal Year Beginning : (MM/DD/YYYY): 10/1/2024

PHA Program Type: Combined

MTW Cohort Number: Asset Building

MTW Supplement Submission Type: Annual Submission

B. MTW Supplement Narrative.

Salem Housing Authority (SHA) is pleased to submit this Fiscal Year (FY) 2024 Moving to Work Supplement component of the Annual PHA Plan. HUD designated SHA as a Moving to Work (MTW) Agency in September 2022, through the MTW Asset Building Cohort, to test asset building initiatives to encourage growth of savings accounts, increased economic mobility, and/or credit building for assisted households. SHA's MTW Plan and Application selected the HUD-defined "Opt-Out Savings Account" as the initial MTW asset building activity. SHA looks forward to working with HUD and the evaluation team to develop and implement asset building activities and to better understand perspectives and experiences of households participating in the "Opt-Out Savings Account" initiative through the program evaluation process. Additionally, SHA will actively participate in the Community of Practice with HUD, the evaluation team, and other MTW agencies in the Asset Building Cohort to further develop and implement best practices related to this initiative.

This supplement identifies the MTW waivers and activities that SHA will implement in its first MTW Fiscal Year to achieve the three MTW statutory objectives, as well as the goals of the asset building cohort, which are outlined in more detail below.

Statutory Objective 1: Reduce cost and achieve greater cost-effectiveness in federal expenditures.

In our first year as a MTW agency, SHA will leverage MTW authority to implement a range of waivers to achieve administrative efficiencies and cost-effectiveness. These waivers will enable SHA to provide a higher level of customer service and connection with program participants, and to reduce administrative burden for participants and property owners. Program participants will benefit from alternative income inclusions / exclusions, alternative re-exam schedule, and self-certification of assets. Removal of requirements for third party assistance with certain Housing Quality Standards and Project-Based Voucher processes will eliminate administrative time spent coordinating with an Independent Entity to support program participants in more rapidly securing housing.

Streamlining the Rent Reasonableness process to compare units against current market studies will reduce the administrative time spent locating comparable units, maintaining, and updating a database of such comparable units, and will provide property owners with accessible information to determine whether their requested rents will likely meet the Rent Reasonableness test. Additionally, a simplified utility allowance schedule will make it simpler for staff to determine gross rent and tenant rent portions, as well as for program participants to search for housing that meets affordability guidelines.

A great deal of time is spent by both staff and program participants in determination of calculated deductions for medical expenses, disability expenses, and childcare. Eliminating calculated deductions and increasing the standard deductions for dependents and elderly/disabled households will have a net benefit for most households and will reduce time spent for staff, and for participants, in verifying these costs (which do not typically have a truly significant impact on the tenant rent calculation in the end).

Statutory Objective 2: Give incentives to families with children whose heads of household are either working, seeking work, or are participating in job training, educational, or other program that assist in obtaining employment and becoming self-sufficient.

A biennial recertification schedule, without the requirement for families to report increases in income between re-examinations, will provide families with more time between increases in rent, allowing them the opportunity to save money, pay off bills, and increase their economic mobility. SHA will provide families with information about this change in policy that will include information about community resources for asset-building, budgeting, and credit building that are available.

Statutory Objective 3: To increase housing choice for low-income families.

The strategy to promote housing choice and increase the supply of affordable housing will be achieved by increasing the Project-Based Voucher (PBV) program cap and PBV project cap. Expansion of the PBV program will provide new housing opportunities and will support the development of new units within our community.

Additionally, in a market where some property owners "price out" Voucher holders by raising rents in an effort to be above the 40% affordability threshold, increasing the threshold to 50% of adjusted monthly income will allow program participants additional choices when searching for and securing housing.

Economic Mobility (Asset Building Cohort Goal)

Implementation of the Opt-Out Savings Account initiative will be the focal point of SHA's initial economic mobility efforts. SHA plans to use the Opt-Out Savings Account program as a baseline for possible future economic mobility programs. This project will allow SHA to build and expand upon a network of partnerships with service providers, financial institutions, and other community-based organizations to promote economic mobility within our community.

Other activities to promote economic mobility include administrative changes to our rental assistance programs, such as alternative income inclusions/exclusions and an alternative re-examination schedule. We anticipate that these initiatives will encourage assisted households to seek employment opportunities, increased wages, and build assets.

C. MTW Activities Plan that Housing Authority Of The City Of Salem Plans to Implement in the Submission Year or Is Currently Implementing

1.i. - Alternative Utility Allowance (PH)

Describe the MTW activity, the MTW agency's goal(s) for the MTW activity, and, if applicable, how the MTW activity contributes to a larger initiative

SHA has created and implemented a utility allowance schedule that considers location, bedroom size, housing type (multifamily/shared wall or single family detached). The simplified schedule will be based on an average expense of the most common fuel types for heating, cooking, and water heating (electric and natural gas) from the utility suppliers within SHA's jurisdiction.

Updates to the household's utility allowance are applied at the next review or update, whether interim (including changes in contract rent for HCV households) or annual re-examination of eligibility.

Per the MTW Operations Notice, this activity will operate within the following Safe Harbors:

- i. The utility schedule must be based upon number of bedrooms, property location, and/or the types of utilities paid by the participant.
- ii. The agency must review its schedule of utility allowances each year and revise its allowance for a utility category if there has been a change of 10 percent or more of the cost from the prior year. The agency must maintain information supporting its annual review of utility allowances and any revisions made in its utility allowance schedule.
- iii. The agency must not include items in the utility schedule that are excluded under HUD regulations.

Which of the MTW statutory objectives does this MTW activity serve?

Cost effectiveness

What are the cost implications of this MTW activity? Pick the best description of the cost implications based on what you know today.

Neutral (no cost implications)

Does the MTW activity under this waiver apply to all assisted households or only to a subset or subsets of assisted households?

The MTW activity applies to all assisted households

Based on the Fiscal Year goals listed in the activity's previous Fiscal Year's narrative, provide a description about what has been accomplished or changed during the implementation.

Alternative Utility Allowance schedule was created and implemented as of 01/01/2024.

Does the MTW agency need a Safe Harbor Waiver to implement this MTW activity as described?

No

Please describe the alternative method of calculating the utility allowances. Please explain how the method of calculating utility allowances is different from the standard method and what objective the MTW agency aims to achieve by using this alternative method.

Instead of providing a separate allowance for each fuel type, we average the most common fuel scenarios (for example, all electric, electric with gas heat, electric with gas heat and cooking, electric with gas heat, water heating and cooking) to create simplified figures for each bedroom size within multifamily (duplex, triplex, apartments) and single family units. Amounts for water, sewer, and garbage will also be determined. A flat figure, based upon 50% of the average of water and sewer, will be established for multifamily units with utility chargebacks. All of these figures will be rounded to the nearest $5 to make them easier to add without the use of a calculator. Seldom-used fuel types (propane, heating oil, and wood) will not be considered in the determination of these averages.

Program participants and residents with higher utility needs may request reasonable accommodation to have additional expenses considered in the determination of their utility allowance.

1.j. - Alternative Utility Allowance (HCV)

Describe the MTW activity, the MTW agency's goal(s) for the MTW activity, and, if applicable, how the MTW activity contributes to a larger initiative

SHA has created a utility allowance schedule that considers location, bedroom size, housing type (multifamily/shared wall or single family detached). The simplified schedule will be based on an average expense of the most common fuel types for heating, cooking, and water heating (electric and natural gas) from the utility suppliers within SHA's jurisdiction.

Upon implementation and moving forward, updates to the household's utility allowance will be applied at the next review or update, whether interim (including changes in contract rent for HCV households) or annual re-examination of eligibility.

Per the MTW Operations Notice, this activity will operate within the following Safe Harbors:

- i. The utility schedule must be based upon number of bedrooms, property location, and/or the types of utilities paid by the participant.

The agency must review its schedule of utility allowances each year and revise its allowance for a utility category if there has been a change of 10 percent or more of the cost from the prior year. The agency must maintain information supporting its annual review of utility allowances and any revisions made in its utility allowance schedule.
- iii. The agency must not include items in the utility schedule that are excluded under HUD regulations.

1.o. - Initial Rent Burden (HCV)

Describe the MTW activity, the MTW agency's goal(s) for the MTW activity, and, if applicable, how the MTW activity contributes to a larger initiative

SHA has used MTW flexibility to increase housing choice by changing the Initial Rent Burden from 40% of Adjusted Monthly Income to 50% of Adjusted Monthly Income, allowing participating families greater choice for the communities they seek to reside in. The result will be an increased burden to the family should they choose to utilize this, but the effect on Housing Assistance Payment (HAP) will remain neutral.

Families will be advised at briefing, and at Voucher issuance, of the increased affordability threshold and the risks of choosing a higher rent burden.

This activity operates within the Safe Harbor requirements of the MTW Operations Notice:

- i. Agency must implement an impact analysis.
- ii. Agency must not allow the family share at initial occupancy to exceed 60% of the family's monthly income.

Which of the MTW statutory objectives does this MTW activity serve?

Housing choice

Based on the Fiscal Year goals listed in the activity's previous Fiscal Year's narrative, provide a description about what has been accomplished or changed during the implementation.

Initial Rent Burden of 50% Adjusted Monthly Income was implemented effective 01/01/2024.

Does the MTW agency need a Safe Harbor Waiver to implement this MTW activity as described?

No

Does the MTW activity require an impact analysis?

Yes

This document is attached.

Does the impact analysis apply to more than this MTW activity?

No

If the MTW agency plans to implement a new maximum income-based rent percentage (higher than 40% of adjusted monthly income), what is that maximum?

50.00%

1.v. - Alternative Income Inclusions/Exclusions (PH)

Describe the MTW activity, the MTW agency's goal(s) for the MTW activity, and, if applicable, how the MTW activity contributes to a larger initiative

HUD regulations require the inclusion of regular non-cash contributions to the household (excluding food or reimbursement for medical expenses). In some cases, the inclusion of non-cash contributions to the household may result in tenant rent responsibility when the household has no cash resources with which to pay rent, resulting in a situation that puts the household at risk for eviction for non-payment of rent, or having to seek other means of obtaining cash contributions, which could then be considered unreported income. This is especially challenging for tenants of Permanent Supportive Housing (PSH) projects where there are typically no tenant-paid utilities, so any amount of income creates a rent obligation for the family.

Tracking and verifying these contributions is an administrative burden for staff and is often challenging for program participants. Friends and family are hesitant to turn over cellular phone bills and other documentation of their contributions since these documents often contain details that are not directly related to the assisted household. In most cases, the contributions are minimal (typically less than $100/month). The amount of administrative time spent documenting the contributions offsets the small amount of tenant rent that results by including them in the income calculation.

SHA excludes from income regular contributions made by someone outside of the assisted household that are not cash paid directly to a member of the household. "Regular" is defined as any contribution occurring three (3) or more times in a 12-month period. To be considered "regular," contributions do not need to come from the same individual or organization.

For example:

- A friend or family member outside of the assisted household pays for cellular phone service for the head of the household by paying the bill directly to the cellular company. Such contribution would be excluded from the income calculation.
- The household receives an average of four (4) deposits from friends and family members outside of the assisted household directly into the checking account of the head of the household. Because these contributions are regular (occurring 3 or more times in a 12-month period) and are cash, they would be annualized and included in the income calculation for the household.

Self-certification of non-cash contributions to the household will be accepted as verification of these amounts, which also provides relief to program participants from cumbersome reporting requirements and brings administrative relief to staff who will no longer have to spend time attempting to verify contributions, which is often administratively burdensome and requires multiple attempts.

Per the MTW Operations notice, safe harbor requirements require the agency to exempt elderly and disabled individuals from this rent determination policy; however, the exclusion of non-cash contributions to the household is beneficial to all participating households. Exempting elderly and disabled individuals would have a negative effect on those households.

SHA seeks a waiver from the requirement to exempt these individuals from this policy.

Which of the MTW statutory objectives does this MTW activity serve?

Cost effectiveness; Self-sufficiency

What are the cost implications of this MTW activity? Pick the best description of the cost implications based on what you know today.

Neutral (no cost implications)

Does the MTW activity under this waiver apply to all assisted households or only to a subset or subsets of assisted households?

The MTW activity applies to all assisted households

Based on the Fiscal Year goals listed in the activity's previous Fiscal Year's narrative, provide a description about what has been accomplished or changed during the implementation.

Alternative Income Inclusions/Exclusions was implemented as of 01/01/2024.

Does the MTW agency need a Safe Harbor Waiver to implement this MTW activity as described?

Yes

What is the status of the Safe Harbor Waiver request?

The waiver was previously approved.

Please describe the extent to which the Safe Harbor Waiver is supporting the MTW agency's goal in implementing this MTW activity.

Application of the Safe Harbor for this initiative (exempting elderly and disabled individuals from alternative income exclusions) would have a negative disparate impact on participant households that include individuals who are elderly or disabled. The waiver of this requirement allows us to apply this benefit to all of our participants equally.

What inclusions or exclusions will be eliminated, modified, or added?

SHA excludes from income regular contributions made by someone outside of the assisted household that are not cash paid directly to a member of the household. "Regular" is defined as any contribution occurring three (3) or more times in a 12-month period. To be considered "regular," contributions do not need to come from the same individual or organization.

1.w. - Alternative Income Inclusions/Exclusions (HCV)

2.c. - Rent Reasonableness – Process (HCV)

Describe the MTW activity, the MTW agency's goal(s) for the MTW activity, and, if applicable, how the MTW activity contributes to a larger initiative

Current rent reasonableness practices require the PHA to maintain a database of comparable units. The administrative burden of maintaining such a database and keeping information regarding comparable units up to date is overwhelming, especially in a volatile rental market where prices change almost daily.

SHA seeks to implement a unit-to-market rent reasonableness process, using semi-annual market studies conducted by a contracted organization. The market study will consider: location of the unit (zip code and neighborhood), type of unit (single family detached and multifamily/shared wall), age of unit (defined as pre-1990 and post-1990). Contract rent for the assisted unit will be compared against the most recent study, and if it falls within the range defined in the market study it will be considered reasonable. Housing Inspectors and other knowledgeable PHA staff may use their market knowledge on a case-by-case basis to approve requested rents above the amount stated in the study for the particular housing type in its area (for example, if a pre-1990 unit has been renovated and is closer in condition to a post-1990 unit, the post-1990 amount may be used to determine reasonableness). Likewise, staff may use market knowledge to disapprove of a requested rent amount if the assisted unit is known to be in poor condition or have sub-standard upkeep. In these cases, staff must clearly document the reasoning behind the decision and Manager review and approval will be required. SHA will not approve requested rents for units that it owns or controls that exceed the applicable amount reflected in the rent survey.

Because rental listings for single family homes are much less common than for multifamily units within SHA's jurisdiction, the contracted organization may calculate a reasonable rent for single family homes within areas for which no data exists at the time of the publication of the study, based upon their professional experience and opinion.

On a quarterly basis, SHA shall randomly select fifteen (15) units for a detailed rent reasonableness quality control review, which is equivalent to approximately 2% of Voucher households assisted in a 12-month period. If a unit that is randomly selected is PHA-owned, the rent reasonableness quality control review will be conducted by a partnering organization (such as a neighboring PHA with which SHA has entered into an agreement for this service).

The proposed activity meets all safe harbor requirements:

- 1) Through the Administrative Plan, the agency shall make available the method used to determine that rents charged by owners to voucher participants are reasonable when compared to similar unassisted units in the market area.
- 2) At the Department's request, the agency must obtain the services of a third-party entity to determine rent reasonableness for PHA-owned units.

Which of the MTW statutory objectives does this MTW activity serve?

Cost effectiveness

What are the cost implications of this MTW activity? Pick the best description of the cost implications based on what you know today.

Neutral (no cost implications)

Does the MTW activity under this waiver apply to all assisted households or only to a subset or subsets of assisted households?

The MTW activity applies to all assisted households

Based on the Fiscal Year goals listed in the activity's previous Fiscal Year's narrative, provide a description about what has been accomplished or changed during the implementation.

SHA is in the process of implementing the unit-to-market rent reasonableness process, due to delays in obtaining timely and adequate rent market surveys.

Does the MTW agency need a Safe Harbor Waiver to implement this MTW activity as described?

No

Describe the method used to determine rent reasonableness and the motivations for using a method different from the standard method.

SHA seeks to implement a unit-to-market rent reasonableness process, using semi-annual market studies conducted by a contracted organization. The market study will consider: location of the unit (zip code and neighborhood), type of unit (single family detached and multifamily/shared wall), age of unit (defined as pre-1990 and post-1990). Contract rent for the assisted unit will be compared against the most recent study, and if it falls within the range defined in the market study it will be considered reasonable. Housing Inspectors and other knowledgeable PHA staff may use their market knowledge on a case-by-case basis to approve requested rents above the amount stated in the study for the particular housing type in its area (for example, if a pre-1990 unit has been renovated and is closer in condition to a post-1990 unit, the post-1990 amount may be used to determine reasonableness). Likewise, staff may use market knowledge to disapprove of a requested rent amount if the assisted unit is known to be in poor condition or have sub-standard upkeep. In these cases, staff must clearly document the reasoning behind the decision and Manager review and approval will be required. SHA will not approve requested rents for units that it owns or controls that exceed the applicable amount reflected in the rent survey.

2.d. - Rent Reasonableness – Third-Party Requirement (HCV)

Describe the MTW activity, the MTW agency's goal(s) for the MTW activity, and, if applicable, how the MTW activity contributes to a larger initiative

SHA seeks to eliminate the requirement for a third-party to conduct rent reasonableness determinations for units that our agency owns or controls. SHA has a partnership with a neighboring PHA to conduct Housing Quality Standards and rent reasonableness determinations for units that it owns, which is time-consuming for both organizations. Conducting rent reasonableness determinations internally, using the unit-to-market method described under 2.c. will streamline processes and create cost effectiveness.

For quality control purposes, two percent of units owned or controlled by SHA and leased under the Section 8 program will be randomly selected for rent reasonableness review by a partnering organization (such as a neighboring PHA with which SHA has entered into an agreement for this service).

The proposed activity meets all safe harbor requirements:

- i. The agency shall establish and make available a quality assurance method to ensure impartiality.
- ii. The agency shall make available the method used to determine that rents charged by owners to voucher participants are reasonable when compared to similar unassisted units in the market area.
- iii. At the Department's request, the agency must obtain the services of a third party entity to determine rent reasonableness for PHA-owned units.

Which of the MTW statutory objectives does this MTW activity serve?

Does the MTW agency need a Safe Harbor Waiver to implement this MTW activity as described?

No

Please explain or upload a description of the quality assurance method.

For quality control purposes, two percent of units owned or controlled by SHA and leased under the Section 8 program will be randomly selected for rent reasonableness review by a partnering organization (such as a neighboring PHA with which SHA has entered into an agreement for this service).

No document is attached.

Please explain or upload a description of the rent reasonableness determination method.

SHA seeks to implement a unit-to-market rent reasonableness process, using semi-annual market studies conducted by a contracted organization. The market study will consider: location of the unit (zip code and neighborhood), type of unit (single family detached and multifamily/shared wall), age of unit (defined as pre-1990 and post-1990). Contract rent for the assisted unit will be compared against the most recent study, and if it falls within the range defined in the market study it will be considered reasonable. Housing Inspectors and other knowledgeable PHA staff may use their market knowledge on a case-by-case basis to approve requested rents above the amount stated in the study for the particular housing type in its area (for example, if a pre-1990 unit has been renovated and is closer in condition to a post-1990 unit, the post-1990 amount may be used to determine reasonableness). Likewise, staff may use market knowledge to disapprove of a requested rent amount if the assisted unit is known to be in poor condition or have sub-standard upkeep. In these cases, staff must clearly document the reasoning behind the decision and Manager review and approval will be required. SHA will not approve requested rents for units that it owns or controls that exceed the applicable amount reflected in the rent survey.

Because rental listings for single family homes are much less common than for multifamily units within SHA's jurisdiction, the contracted organization may calculate a reasonable rent for single family homes within areas for which no data exists at the time of the publication of the study, based upon their professional experience and opinion.

On a quarterly basis, SHA shall randomly select fifteen (15) units for a detailed rent reasonableness quality control review, which is equivalent to approximately 2% of Voucher households assisted in a 12-month period. If a unit that is randomly selected is PHA-owned, the rent reasonableness quality control review will be conducted by a partnering organization

(such as a neighboring PHA with which SHA has entered into an agreement for this service).

3.a. - Alternative Reexamination Schedule for Households (PH)

Describe the MTW activity, the MTW agency's goal(s) for the MTW activity, and, if applicable, how the MTW activity contributes to a larger initiative

SHA seeks to conduct recertifications of program eligibility on a biennial (every 2 years) basis rather than annually.

Reducing the frequency of recertifications allows participants to keep more of their income as their income increases. It also reduces the burden for staff and participants in acquiring, submitting, and processing paperwork. This change provides program participants with a longer time with stable rent to allow for better financial planning, budgeting, and housing security. Participants will have a greater ability to save for, and accomplish, goals such as pursuing education and rent independence.

Households reporting zero income will be required to report increases in income between reexaminations.

Participants experiencing a 10% or greater loss of gross income may request an interim adjustment to their income calculation. The number of interim adjustments that may be requested is not limited, however SHA will not adjust the income calculation in the event of less than a 10% loss of gross income.

The proposed activity meets all safe harbor requirements:

- 1) Reexaminations must occur at least every three years.
- 2) The agency must allow at least one interim adjustment per year at the request of the household if the household gross income has decreased 10% or more.
- 3) Agency must implement an impact analysis.
- 4) Agency must include a hardship policy.

Please describe briefly how the MTW agency plans to address changes in family/household circumstances under the alternative reexamination schedule.

SHA will conduct reexaminations for all families at least every two (2) years.

Between reexaminations, participants may request an interim adjustment when they experience a decrease in gross income of 10% or greater.

Additionally, SHA will conduct interim adjustments to redetermine subsidy when the household experiences a qualifying event. Qualifying events will be described in the Housing Choice Voucher Administrative Plan and will include decreases in income of 10% or greater, increases in income (for households at zero/minimal income who are required to report changes in income or when requested by the household), changes in household composition, and changes to the contract rent or utility responsibility. When interim adjustments are conducted, SHA will apply payment standards and utility allowances in effect on the effective date of the adjustment.

SHA will reserve the right to conduct reexaminations more frequently either for administrative or other financial reasons.

SHA will apply the most recent Payment Standard in effect when processing contract rent increases between reexaminations to reduce the impact / rent burden on participating families (without completing a full income reexamination).

The proposed activity meets all safe harbor requirements:

- 1) Reexaminations must occur at least every three years.

SHA will conduct reexaminations for all families at least every two (2) years.

Between reexaminations, participants may request an interim adjustment when they experience a decrease in gross income of 10% or greater.

Between reexaminations, SHA will apply the most recent Payment Standard that is in effect when processing changes in contract rent without requiring a full income reexamination.

3.c. - Self-Certification of Assets (PH)

Describe the MTW activity, the MTW agency's goal(s) for the MTW activity, and, if applicable, how the MTW activity contributes to a larger initiative

At determination of initial eligibility / new admission, SHA will verify all family assets in accordance with the Admissions and Continued Occupancy Plan requirements.

At reexamination, SHA will allow the self-certification of assets with a total value of up to $50,000 for the household. Reduced documentation requirements will reduce staff time for processing, thereby increasing efficiency and cost effectiveness. Reducing documentation saves time for staff and the majority of program participants whose assets do not impact their level of benefits. Third-party verification of assets for participant families will not be required on a regular schedule, but SHA will reserve the right to verify assets via third party for administrative or other financial reasons.

The proposed activity meets all safe harbor requirements:

5.c. - Third-Party Requirement (HCV)

Describe the MTW activity, the MTW agency's goal(s) for the MTW activity, and, if applicable, how the MTW activity contributes to a larger initiative

SHA has eliminated the requirement for a third party to conduct Housing Quality Standards (HQS) inspections for units that our agency owns or controls. SHA has a partnership with a neighboring PHA to conduct Housing Quality Standards and rent reasonableness determinations for units that it owns, which is time-consuming for both organizations. Conducting HQS inspections internally will streamline processes and create cost effectiveness.

For quality control purposes, two percent of units owned or controlled by SHA and leased under the Section 8 program will be randomly selected for HQS inspection quality control review by a partnering organization (such as a neighboring PHA with which SHA has entered into an agreement for this service).

The proposed activity meets all Safe Harbor requirements outlined in the MTW Operations Notice:

- i. The agency shall establish and make available a quality assurance method to ensure impartiality.
- ii. The participant must be able to request an interim inspection.

- iii. HQS inspection standards must not be altered as found at 24 CFR 982.401.
- iv. At the Department's request, the agency must obtain the services of a third party entity to determine if PHA-owned units pass HQS.

9.h. - Limit Portability for PBV Units (HCV)

Describe the MTW activity, the MTW agency's goal(s) for the MTW activity, and, if applicable, how the MTW activity contributes to a larger initiative

SHA has used MTW flexibility to change the current requirement to provide a tenant-based Housing Choice Voucher requested by a Project-Based Voucher (PBV) household from 12 months of PBV tenancy to 24 months. Tenant-based Vouchers are very limited in our community. As our portfolio of PBV units increases to meet community need, more frequent requests for Housing Choice Vouchers are anticipated. These requests delay our ability to serve low-income community members from the waiting list.

This change ensures that households electing to move into a PBV unit cannot convert to a tenant-based Voucher after only one year, effectively bypassing the HCV waiting list. Additionally, it decreases the administrative burden for staff after initial intake.

Per the MTW Operations Notice, this activity will operate within the following Safe Harbors:

- i. Portability under this activity must not be restricted for more than 24 months.
- ii. The agency must have a clear and uniform policy in place to address how move requests are received and how they are approved/denied for PBV households.
- iii. Participants must still retain the ability to request a tenant-based voucher for reasonable accommodation according to existing rules.

Which of the MTW statutory objectives does this MTW activity serve?

MTW Hardship Policy

SHA offers a hardship policy when households have mitigating circumstances and believe a MTW activity constitutes a financial or other hardship for the family. To qualify for a hardship, the family must be following all program rules and regulations, not owe SHA any money (or be current in a repayment agreement if money is owed).

SHA will post information about its hardship policy on its website, will provide information about the hardship policy at intake and at regular reexamination, and will consider whether a participant qualifies for a hardship exemption at the time of potential termination of assistance if the termination is related to a MTW activity.

Households must submit requests for the MTW Hardship Policy in writing. A form is provided for this purpose, but its use is not required. Similar to SHA policies relating to interim adjustments, if approved, a reported change must be received by SHA no later than the 20th of the month for the MTW activity to be suspended the first of the following month. Reported changes received by the PHA between the 21st and final day of the month will be effective the first of the second month following the report of the change. For example:

- Change reported October 15th: MTW activity will be suspended November 1st.
- Change reported October 22nd: MTW activity will be suspended December 1st.

Households must identify which MTW activity they are requesting to be suspended:

- Self-Certification of Allowable Expenses (Agency-Specific Waiver)
- Alternative Income Exclusions (1.v., 1.w.)
- Alternative Reexamination Schedule (3.a., 3.b.)

Households must identify the situation that qualifies them for hardship:

- Family has experienced an increase in expenses of more than 25%, such as a large medical expense or significant increase in childcare costs.
- Family has experienced a change in circumstances resulting in a hardship related to the exclusion of non-cash contributions to the household.
- Family has experienced an increase in income that may provide them other benefits if implemented (for example, families participating in the FSS program) and wish to request more frequent reexaminations.

If a hardship request is approved, the MTW activity will be suspended, and the family's rent calculation will be based on non-MTW regulations. Please note that calculating rent based on non-MTW regulations may not always result in a rent reduction. The hardship will be effective until the next annual update or review, up to 12 months.

If a hardship request is not approved, the family will have the right to appeal the decision for further review. If the appeal is denied, the family will have the right to request an informal hearing to review the household income and rent calculation. The informal hearing will be conducted by the SHA Hearings Officer or a member of the management team who was not involved in the decision.

3.a., b. Alternative Reexamination Schedule for Households (HCV and PH) – Impact Analysis

Savings related to this activity are anticipated (staff time, office supplies, postage), but no impact on agency finances is expected.

Following the implementation of the alternative reexamination schedule for Housing Choice Voucher families on January 1, 2024, SHA determined that there was an inadvertent impact on affordability of housing costs for families who experience an increase in contract rent between biennial recertifications. To mitigate this impact, SHA updated the Housing Choice Voucher Administrative Plan to implement application of the current payment standard in effect when processing rent increases between biennial recertifications (without requiring a full income reexamination). There is no other anticipated impact on affordability of housing costs for affected families participating in the Housing Choice Voucher program.

There is no anticipated impact on affordability of housing costs for affected families participating in the Public Housing program.

There is no anticipated impact on the agency's waiting list.

There is no anticipated impact on the agency's termination rate of families.

There is no anticipated impact on the occupancy and utilization rates.

SHA anticipates an increase in administrative efficiency and cost-effectiveness by implementing this initiative. SHA anticipates approximately 1,000 hours in time savings per year by shifting participating households to a biennial recertification schedule.

There is no anticipated impact on the agency's ability to meet MTW statutory requirements.

Hardship requests are not anticipated.

There is no anticipated disparate impact to protected classes as a result of this activity.

1. o. Initial Rent Burden (HCV) – Impact Analysis

SHA finances will remain neutral.

Families who choose to take advantage of the 50% rent burden will pay more towards their housing costs but will be given more choice in choosing their housing options. There is no effect on the waiting list.

Participant families may request an interim adjustment to their rent in the event of a 10% or more loss of gross income, or they may request a hardship request to have a higher payment standard applied to their rent calculation outside of their regularly scheduled reexamination schedule in the event that they do not experience a loss of income.

This activity will not impact the waiting list.

Increased terminations are not anticipated; however, SHA will track terminations relating to non-payment of rent. If it is determined that this MTW activity increases the rate of terminations relating to non-payment of rent, its implementation will be re-evaluated in subsequent years. The activity was implemented effective 01/01/2024; to date, no terminations due to non-payment of rent have been attributed to the MTW activity.

It is anticipated that this MTW activity will have a positive impact on housing choice and occupancy, allowing families a wider range of units to select and lease with their Vouchers.

This activity will not impact SHA's ability to meet MTW statutory goals.

Hardship requests are not anticipated.

This activity will not have disparate impact on protected classes.
