OFFICE OF SINGLE FAMILY HOUSING

Myths

Myth 1: You need to put 20 percent down to purchase a home.

Myth 2: I have to come up with a down payment and closing costs by myself.

Myth 3: It's cheaper to rent than to buy.

Myth 4: For fixer-uppers, lenders want all repairs completed before I can close on the loan.

MYTH 1

You need to put 20 percent down to purchase a home.

MYTH 1: You Need to Put 20 Percent Down to Purchase a Home

Fact: No.

With the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), the minimum down payment is 3.5 percent.

MYTH 1: You Need to Put 20 Percent Down to Purchase a Home (cont.)

FHA:

- Has low down payment requirements;
- Allows flexible qualifying and debt-to-income ratios;
- Offers more leniency toward past credit issues;
- Allows you to use a co-borrower to help you qualify; and
- Allows the use of gift funds for down payment and closing costs.

MYTH 1: You Need to Put 20 Percent Down to Buy a Home (cont.)

Do you need to put 20 percent down to purchase a home?

No. FHA-insured loans require 3.5% minimum down payment for borrowers with credit scores of 580 and above.

MYTH 2

I have to come up with a down payment and closing costs by myself.

MYTH 2: I Have to Come Up with a Down Payment and Closing Costs by Myself

Fact: No

FHA allows you to use your own savings funds or receive gift funds from acceptable sources.

MYTH 2: I Have to Come Up with a Down Payment and Closing Costs by Myself (cont.)

Gifts Used for Down Payments

Acceptable Sources

- You
- Family member
- Employer or labor union
- Close friend
- Charitable organization
- Government agency (i.e., down payment assistance programs)

Unacceptable Sources

- The seller
- Person who benefits financially from the transaction
- Anyone who is reimbursed by the person who benefits from the transaction

MYTH 2: I Have to Come Up with a Down Payment and Closing Costs by Myself (cont.)

Money for down payments and closing costs can come from many acceptable sources. Check out down payment assistance programs in your state.

MYTH 3

It's cheaper to rent than to buy.

MYTH 3: It's Cheaper to Rent Than to Buy

Fact: Maybe.

Rents tend to rise over time, while purchasing allows the payments and house price appreciation to be used to gain home equity, making the cost of renting not as cost effective.

Benefits of homeownership generally begin to outweigh renting if you remain in the home for four to five years.

4 to 5

Other homeownership expenses to consider:

Property taxes*

Homeowners' insurance*

Property maintenance

Homeowners association
(HOA or condo) dues

*Property taxes and homeowners insurance are often included in the mortgage payment.

EXAMPLE: Rent vs. Buy

Rent

Equity: $8,460 ($2760 principal+ $5700 appreciation)

After one year

EXAMPLE: Rent vs. Buy

Rent – 5 years

Total rent paid: $96,000

- Taxes: $0
- Renter's Insurance: $900

Maintenance expenses: $0

Equity: $0

Buy – 5 Years

Total mortgage payment: $84,000

- Principal: $15,000
- Interest: $45,000
- Taxes: $18,000
- Homeowner's Insurance: $6,000

Total Maintenance expenses:
$12,000

Appreciation: $30,000 (3% annually of a $190,000 home)

Equity: $45,000 ($15,000 principal + $30,000 appreciation)

After five years

MYTH 3: It's Cheaper to Rent Than to Buy (cont.)

The decision to rent or buy is a personal one. Be sure to consider all expenses, including closing costs for buying and selling, compared to the equity gained through homeownership.

MYTH 4

For fixer-uppers, lenders want all repairs completed before I can close the loan.

MYTH 4: For Fixer-Uppers, Lenders Want All Repairs Completed Before I Can Close the Loan

Fact: No.

FHA offers special loan programs that allow you to buy a fixer-upper and rehab it after closing.
